PETITION UNDER 37 CFR §1.47(a)

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to 37 CFR 1.47(a) and MPEP 409.03(d), real-party-in-interest, Even Technologies (which holds the assignee of this application - Digital Accelerator Corporation - as a wholly-owned subsidiary company), respectfully states that co-inventor Meng Wang refuses to join the application for patent, and requests that this application be accepted for examination under Rule 47, and that the enclosed Oath/Declaration be accepted without the signature of one of co-inventors Meng Wang.

In brief, and as declared by Leslie Sims, Marketing Manager of Even Technologies, in the enclosed declaration (executed December 06, 2006), the pending specification and Declaration under 37 CFR 1.63 for the above-referenced patent application were presented to co-inventor Meng Wang for review and execution. Meng Wang refused to execute the papers. The enclosed Declaration of Leslie Sims of Even Technologies sets forth a detailed description of attempts made to contact co-inventor Meng Wang regarding the Rule 63 Declaration for the above-referenced patent application.

The instant application is a U.S. National Phase (under 35 U.S.C. §371) of Patent Convention Treaty (PCT) International Application No. PCT/CA2004/000464, having an International Filing Date of March 29, 2004. This U.S. utility patent application, USSN 10/551,359, has the same specification as PCT/CA2004/000464, and was filed on September 28, 2005.

As declared by Leslie Sims (see paragraphs 4 and 6, page 2, of her declaration), co-inventor Meng Wang was provided a copy of the declaration for this U.S. utility patent application, USSN 10/551,359, by MOBILE 1™ messengers at his last known residence, noted below. The letter referenced Canadian Patent Application 2,423,618, the priority document for this application, and requested that Mr. Wang review and sign the Rule 63 declaration and return same to Even Technologies as soon as possible. A copy of that letter and the accompanying shipping request form are attached to Leslie Sims's declaration.

Co-inventor Meng Wang's last known residential address is:

3027 Laurel Street
Vancouver, British Columbia V5Z 3T6
Canada

This also is believed to be Meng Wang's current residential address.

As declared by Leslie Sims (see paragraph 5, page 2, of her declaration), a second copy of the letter was sent by registered mail with Canada Post, on November 20, 2006. A copy of that letter and the accompanying tracking sheet are attached to Leslie Sims's declaration.

As declared by Leslie Sims (see paragraph 7, page 2, of her declaration), as of the date the declaration was signed, no communication or correspondence was received from Meng Wang related to signing the Rule 63 declaration.

Kindly accept this Petition and the enclosed Response to Notification of Missing Requirements with Rule 63 Oath/Declaration executed by all co-inventors, except uncooperative co-inventor Meng Wang, and issue a notice of same.

In the event the U.S. Patent and Trademark office determines that an extension and/or other relief is required, applicant petitions for any required relief including extensions of time and authorizes the Commissioner to charge the cost of such petitions and/or other fees due in connection with the filing of this document to Deposit Account No. 03-1952 referencing docket no. 577132000200. However, the Commissioner is not authorized to charge the cost of the issue fee to the Deposit Account.

If it is determined that a telephone conference would expedite the prosecution of this application, the Examiner is invited to telephone the undersigned at the number given below.

IN THE CANADIAN PATENT OFFICE
RE: CANADIAN PATENT APPLICATION NO. 2,423,618
FILED 28 March 2003

Applicant: Digital Accelerator Corporation
Serial No.: 2,423,618
Filed: March 28, 2003
Title: Overcomplete Basis Transform-Based Motion Residual Frame Coding Method and Apparatus for Video Compression Systems

AFFIDAVIT

In re Application of Canadian Application No. 2,423,618 entitled Overcomplete Basis Transform-Based Motion Residual Frame Coding Method and Apparatus for Video Compression Systems

AND IN THE MATTER OF effecting transfers under Section 37 of the Canadian Patent Rules

AFFIDAVIT OF PHIL NERLAND

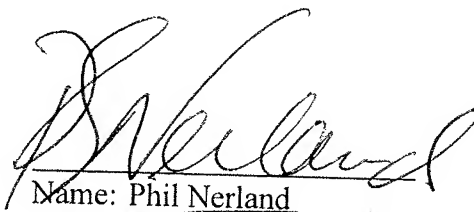

I, Phil Nerland, of 1255 West Pender Street, in the City of Vancouver, in the Province of British Columbia, MAKE OATH AND SAY AS FOLLOWS:

1. I am the President of Digital Accelerator Corporation, the former employer of the inventors of the above-referenced application. As such, I have access to company records and I have personal knowledge of the facts hereinafter deposed to except where stated to be on information and belief, in which case I verily believe them to be true.
2. The subject invention was first filed on March 28, 2001 as Canadian Patent Application No. 2,342,424 and subsequently withdrawn on April 11, 2002. The application was re-filed on March 28, 2002 as Canadian Patent Application No. 2,380,049 and subsequently withdrawn on March 27, 2003. The application was then re-filed on March 28, 2003 as the subject patent application (Canadian Patent Application No. 2,423,618).
3. The subject patent application named three inventors, namely, Yi Xiong, Mark Sauer, and Meng Wang.

4. Two of the inventors, namely, Yi Xiong and Mark Sauer, have assigned to Digital Accelerator Corporation all their right, title and interest to the invention as described and claimed in the subject patent application. Copies of the assignments are attached as Exhibit "A".
5. I have been informed and verily believe that in spite of an asserted attempt, the third listed inventor, namely, Meng Wang, could not be located to sign the assignment document. Glenn J. Niemela, solicitor for Digital Accelerator Corporation, retained four process servers to effect service on Meng Wang for an action before the Supreme Court of British Columbia. The Affidavit sworn by Mr. Niemela, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit "B", shows Digital Accelerator Corporation's unsuccessful attempts to locate Meng Wang.
6. The inventor Meng Wang was employed by Digital Accelerator Corporation as early as October 1997. He was an employee on March 28, 2001, the date of first filing of an application for the subject invention.
7. Meng Wang was and is under an obligation to assign any and all rights to the subject patent application to Digital Accelerator Corporation. An Employment Agreement made as of March 1, 1999 and signed by Meng Wang, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit "C", stipulated in Article 11 that he has assigned to Digital Accelerator Corporation all discoveries, concepts, inventions or improvements, whether patentable or not, made, discovered, conceived, invented or improved by Meng Wang during the period of his employment and that he agrees to vest in Digital Accelerator Corporation his entire right, title and interest in and to said discoveries, concepts, inventions or improvements.
8. I verily believe that all diligent efforts to locate the inventor Meng Wang have been unsuccessful. 4. The Defendant was employed by the Plaintiff on a full time basis from approximately July of 1997 until approximately October of 2001. Throughout the course of his employment by the Plaintiff, the Defendant was a senior officer of the Plaintiff, holding the office of Chief Scientist, and was responsible for overseeing and managing all aspects of the Plaintiff's research and development.

5. In March, 1999 the Plaintiff and the Defendant executed a renewal employment agreement (the "Wang Contract") which remained in effect until the termination of the Defendant's employment in the Fall of 2001.
6. The Defendant's principal responsibilities within the executive management of the Plaintiff included:
 - (a) managing all key scientific staff of the Plaintiff;
 - (b) overseeing the scientific program of the Plaintiff;
 - (c) coordinating the recording and documentation of all material technical developments of the Plaintiff, including the preparation of the Plaintiff's international patent applications; and
 - (d) coordinating the technical components of key discussions and negotiations with potential customers of the Plaintiff.
7. During the course of the Defendant's employment as Chief Scientist of the Plaintiff, the Plaintiff developed a series of proprietary software and applications in the areas of Still Image Coding (Photo ID, General Image, Medical and Biometric Applications), Video Compression, Video on Demand (VOD) and Streaming Video on Demand (SVOD). The Plaintiff's technologies are the subject of six international patent applications, most of which were co-authored or managed by the Defendant.

8. In addition, during the period roughly between 1999 and 2001, the Defendant was instrumental in the development and implementation of a business development strategy for Asia. During this period, the Defendant visited Asia on behalf of the Plaintiff approximately nine times.
9. During 2001, the Defendant indicated on several occasions that he had difficulty working with certain members of the senior management team of the Plaintiff. In particular, the Defendant indicated to management his dissatisfaction with the manner in which the Plaintiff was seeking to commercialize its products in Asia.
10. In the Fall of 2001, the Defendant resigned his position with the Plaintiff.
11. Despite requests made by the Plaintiff, the Defendant has failed to return or account for any of the intellectual or tangible property of the Plaintiff which were in the possession or control of the Defendant at the time of his resignation, including without limitation a computer and cellular telephone in the possession of the Defendant.
12. The Wang Contract provided, inter alia, for covenants of non-competition and non-disclosure. More specifically, the Wang Contract provided:
 - (a) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, engage in or have any involvement with any business in North America or Asia which was competitive with the business of the Plaintiff;
 - (b) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, solicit any customer or potential customer of the Plaintiff for any purpose competitive with the business of the Plaintiff;

- (c) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, solicit recruit, solicit, hire or recommend the hiring of any person who was employed by the Plaintiff or its affiliates at any time during the 12 month period prior to the last day of employment with the Corporation;
- (d) that the Defendant would, at all times during the term of the Wang Contract and at all times thereafter, hold all of the intellectual property, know-how and trade secrets of the Plaintiff in secrecy as trustee or custodian for the Plaintiff, and do all reasonable acts and things to assist the Plaintiff and its affiliates in maintaining the secrecy of such property;
- (e) that the Defendant would not at any time, either during the term of the Wang Contract or thereafter, disclose or divulge, directly or indirectly, to any person, firm or corporation any of the information and trade secrets and know-how of the Plaintiff, or use any of such property other than for the benefit of the Corporation or its affiliates;
- (f) that all instructions, drawings, notes, memoranda, inventions, patents and other industrial property relating to the business of the Plaintiff or its affiliates made or conceived by the Defendant during the term hereof or which may come into his possession during the term of the Wang Contract and which relate in any way to or embody any of the information, trade secrets or know-how of the Plaintiff or any research done for the Plaintiff shall be the exclusive property of the Plaintiff;
- (g) that the Defendant would communicate and assign to the Plaintiff all discoveries, concepts, inventions or improvements, whether patentable or not, made, discovered, conceived, invented or improved by the Defendant as well as any ideas, plans, concepts, copyrightable materials, copyrights, trademarks, trade dress and any other intellectual property conceived or created by the Defendant

(hereinafter collectively call the "IP Rights") during the term of the Wang Contract which in any way relate to any process, formula, plan, skill, method of advertising, marketing, research, equipment, device, or method of doing business, developed or being developed, made, used, sold or installed by or made known to the Defendant during the period of his employment by the Plaintiff or resulting from or suggested by any work which the Defendant may do for the Plaintiff or its affiliates at the request of the Plaintiff or its affiliates and relating to any business carried on or proposed to be carried on by the Plaintiff or its affiliates;

(h) that the Defendant would at all times (both during the term of the Wang Contract and at all times thereafter) assist the Plaintiff, its affiliates or their respective assignees or their nominees in every way to protect the intellectual property rights of the Plaintiff and its affiliates.

13. Following his resignation from the Plaintiff, the Defendant knowingly began developing business opportunities in the digital media industry which were directly competitive with the business of the Plaintiff.
14. In or about October of 2001 the Defendant solicited an employee of the Plaintiff, Yi Xiong, to request sick leave from the Plaintiff and to work with the Defendant. At the time, Mr. Yi was employed by the Plaintiff as Project Leader - Research Scientist and had extensive knowledge of the DAC Technologies and processes.
15. On March 4, 2002, the Defendant incorporated a British Columbia company, Transcodec Technologies Ltd. (herein "Transcodec"), for the purpose of continuing the business carried on by the Defendant subsequent to his resignation as an employee of the Plaintiff. Transcodec has since been voluntarily dissolved on July 29, 2003.

16. The Defendant continues to operate his business in a form known to him under his personal name or under another corporate entity unknown to the Plaintiff.
17. During the period October, 2001 through March, 2003, the Defendant and/or Transcodec hired or engaged no fewer than three employees or former employees of the Plaintiff to work with the Defendant. All such employees were employed by the Plaintiff as research scientists, and had extensive knowledge of the DAC Technologies.
18. In addition to his dealings with the employees and former employees of the Plaintiff, and in breach of his contractual and fiduciary duties, during the period October, 2001 through March, 2003, the Defendant and/or Transcodia contacted a number of potential customers and investors of the Plaintiff for purposes competitive with the interests of the Plaintiff.

Trade Secrets

18. As Chief Scientist of the Plaintiff, the Defendant was instrumental in the development and documentation of the DAC Technologies and was intimately familiar with the confidential intellectual property and information of the Plaintiff.
19. The confidential intellectual property and information were and continue to be trade secrets of the Plaintiff and were communicated to the Defendant in confidence for the limited purpose of enabling the Defendant to further the Plaintiff's interests.
20. The Defendant received the confidential information or trade secrets knowing the limited purpose for which it was communicated to him and his contractual obligation under the terms of the Wang Contract to keep the information confidential.

21. The Defendant had and has a contractual obligation, and owes and owed a duty of trust and confidence, a fiduciary duty and a statutory duty to the Plaintiff in respect of the confidential information or trade secrets, and each part thereof, and was not and is not entitled to use the confidential information or trade secrets, or any part thereof, without the prior consent of the Plaintiff for any purpose other than that for which it was supplied to him by the Plaintiff.
22. Subsequently, in breach of such duties and obligations owed to the Plaintiff and without the Plaintiff's consent, the Defendant made use of the confidential information or trade secrets of the Plaintiff and has unlawfully made or seeks to make profits for himself.
23. The use by the Defendant and/or Transcodec or other corporate entities unknown to the Plaintiff, of confidential information or trade secrets that belonged to the Plaintiff constitutes an unlawful appropriation to the Defendant and/or Transcodec's, or other corporate entities' own use of the Plaintiff's property, and a wrongful conversion of the Plaintiff's assets.
24. The Defendant or corporate entities unknown to the Plaintiff, and each of them, threaten and intend to continue to use the confidential information or trade secrets to make profits for themselves.
25. By reason of the actions of the Defendants and each of them, the Plaintiff has suffered and continues to suffer loss and damage.

Copyright Infringement

26. The Plaintiff is the author of numerous software designs and related works comprising the DAC Technologies which have come into being since 1997 to date, and is the owner of the copyright therein.

27. The DAC Technologies and the copyright therein were authored exclusively by employees of the Plaintiff or contractors to the Plaintiff who have assigned and transferred to the Plaintiff all of their right, title and interest in and to the copyright in such works.
28. The Defendant infringed the Plaintiff's copyright in the work by developing, seeking to develop, marketing and purporting to own certain key elements of the DAC Technologies relating to the compression, storage, management and distribution of digital video images using a variable bit rate coding, in all cases without the consent of the Plaintiff.
29. By reason of the acts of the Defendant, the Plaintiff has suffered loss and damage.
30. The Defendant threatens and intends to continue and repeat the infringement of the Plaintiff's copyright.

Passing Off

31. The DAC Technologies consist of a unique and proprietary set of computer codes intended for use in the compression, storage, management and transmission of digital images. Included in the DAC Technologies are a suite of applications intended for use in the compression and transmission of digital video images, of particular utility for the delivery of video content over the internet (referred to as video on demand). A key unique feature of these technologies is the encoding of digital content using variable bit rates, as opposed to fixed bit rates.
32. Since 1997, the Plaintiff has adopted and used in connection with its technologies certain unique terms, including the terms "region based coding" and in later years the term "IPTV" to describe, respectively, the Plaintiff's encoding (compression) method and the Plaintiff's digital image delivery method.

33. The use by the Plaintiff of the terms "region based coding" and "IPTV" are unique to the DAC Technologies and are known to the public as being indicative of the Plaintiff's wares, services or business. In particular, the term IPTV was used extensively by the Plaintiff in its business dealings in Asia, and the Plaintiff's key prospective customers in Asia came to recognise the term IPTV as distinctive and as distinguishing the wares, services and business of the Plaintiff.
34. Commencing in the Fall of 2001 and continuing to the present, the Defendant has frequently and consistently communicated with parties in Asia (particularly in China) that the Defendant is the owner and distributor of video encoding and transmission technologies using region based coding. The Defendant has used the term IPTV in the course of his business discussions in China, as well as on his website.
35. By reason of the activity set out in the foregoing paragraph, the Defendant has passed off and continues to pass off its wares, services and business as and for those of the Plaintiff.
36. By reason of the activities of the Defendant, the Plaintiff has suffered damage as follows:
 - a. loss of profit resulting from the Plaintiff's loss of sales;
 - b. loss of goodwill and depreciation of the Plaintiff's goodwill and its trademark;
37. The Defendant has refused to discontinue the acts complained of and threatens and intends to continue those acts.

The Plaintiff claims as follows:

Trade Secrets

- a. an injunction to restrain the Defendant, by himself, his servants agents or otherwise, from using the confidential information or trade secrets of the Plaintiff, or any part thereof, namely, proprietary software and applications in the areas of Still Image Coding (Photo ID, General Image, Medical and Biometric Applications), Video Compression, Video on Demand (VOD) and Streaming Video on Demand (SVOD) which technologies are the subject of six (6) international patent applications, and using the plaintiff's unique terms "region based coding" and "IPTV" or otherwise exploiting the confidential information or trade secrets (or any part thereof);

- j. an account of all profits made by the Defendant, for and on account of the Plaintiff;
- k. payment of the amount found to be due to the Plaintiff on taking of the account;
- l. damages for infringement;
- m. in the alternative, if the Plaintiff so elects in express terms before final judgment is rendered, statutory damages pursuant to s. 38.1 of the Copyright Act R.S.C. 1985, c C - 42, in lieu of an accounting and payment of profits and payment of damages for infringement;
- n. damages for conversion;

Passing Off

During the course of the Defendant's employment as Chief Scientist of the Plaintiff, the Plaintiff developed a series of proprietary software and applications in the areas of Still Image Coding (Photo ID, General Image, Medical and Biometric Applications), Video Compression, Video on Demand (VOD) and Streaming Video on Demand (SVOD). The Plaintiff's technologies are the subject of six international patent applications, most of which were co-authored or managed by the Defendant.

-3-

8. In addition, during the period roughly between 1999 and 2001, the Defendant was instrumental in the development and implementation of a business development strategy for Asia. During this period, the Defendant visited Asia on behalf of the Plaintiff approximately nine times.
9. During 2001, the Defendant indicated on several occasions that he had difficulty working with certain members of the senior management team of the Plaintiff. In particular, the Defendant indicated to management his dissatisfaction with the manner in which the Plaintiff was seeking to commercialize its products in Asia.
10. In the Fall of 2001, the Defendant resigned his position with the Plaintiff.
11. Despite requests made by the Plaintiff, the Defendant has failed to return or account for any of the intellectual or tangible property of the Plaintiff which were in the possession or control of the Defendant at the time of his resignation, including without limitation a computer and cellular telephone in the possession of the Defendant.
12. The Wang Contract provided, inter alia, for covenants of non-competition and non-disclosure. More specifically, the Wang Contract provided:
 - (a) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, engage in or have any involvement with any business in North America or Asia which was competitive with the business of the Plaintiff;
 - (b) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, solicit any customer or potential customer of the Plaintiff for any purpose competitive with the business of the Plaintiff;

- (c) that the Defendant would not, at any time prior to February 28, 2004, solicit recruit, solicit, hire or recommend the hiring of any person who was employed by the Plaintiff or its affiliates at any time during the 12 month period prior to the last day of employment with the Corporation;
- (d) that the Defendant would, at all times during the term of the Wang Contract and at all times thereafter, hold all of the intellectual property, know-how and trade secrets of the Plaintiff in secrecy as trustee or custodian for the Plaintiff, and do all reasonable acts and things to assist the Plaintiff and its affiliates in maintaining the secrecy of such property;
- (e) that the Defendant would not at any time, either during the term of the Wang Contract or thereafter, disclose or divulge, directly or indirectly, to any person, firm or corporation any of the information and trade secrets and know-how of the Plaintiff, or use any of such property other than for the benefit of the Corporation or its affiliates;
- (f) that all instructions, drawings, notes, memoranda, inventions, patents and other industrial property relating to the business of the Plaintiff or its affiliates made or conceived by the Defendant during the term hereof or which may come into his possession during the term of the Wang Contract and which relate in any way to or embody any of the information, trade secrets or know-how of the Plaintiff or any research done for the Plaintiff shall be the exclusive property of the Plaintiff;
- (g) that the Defendant would communicate and assign to the Plaintiff all discoveries, concepts, inventions or improvements, whether patentable or not, made, discovered, conceived, invented or improved by the Defendant as well as any ideas, plans, concepts, copyrightable materials, copyrights, trademarks, trade dress and any other intellectual property conceived or created by the Defendant

(hereinafter collectively call the "IP Rights") during the term of the Wang Contract which in any way relate to any process, formula, plan, skill, method of advertising, marketing, research, equipment, device, or method of doing business, developed or being developed, made, used, sold or installed by or made known to the Defendant during the period of his employment by the Plaintiff or resulting from or suggested by any work which the Defendant may do for the Plaintiff or its affiliates at the request of the Plaintiff or its affiliates and relating to any business carried on or proposed to be carried on by the Plaintiff or its affiliates;

(h) that the Defendant would at all times (both during the term of the Wang Contract and at all times thereafter) assist the Plaintiff, its affiliates or their respective assignees or their nominees in every way to protect the intellectual property rights of the Plaintiff and its affiliates.

13. Following his resignation from the Plaintiff, the Defendant knowingly began developing business opportunities in the digital media industry which were directly competitive with the business of the Plaintiff.
14. In or about October of 2001 the Defendant solicited an employee of the Plaintiff, Yi Xiong, to request sick leave from the Plaintiff and to work with the Defendant. At the time, Mr. Yi was employed by the Plaintiff as Project Leader - Research Scientist and had extensive knowledge of the DAC Technologies and processes.
15. On March 4, 2002, the Defendant incorporated a British Columbia company, Transcodec Technologies Ltd. (herein "Transcodec"), for the purpose of continuing the business carried on by the Defendant subsequent to his resignation as an employee of the Plaintiff. Transcodec has since been voluntarily dissolved on July 29, 2003.

16. The Defendant continues to operate his business in a form known to him under his personal name or under another corporate entity unknown to the Plaintiff.
17. During the period October, 2001 through March, 2003, the Defendant and/or Transcodec hired or engaged no fewer than three employees or former employees of the Plaintiff to work with the Defendant. All such employees were employed by the Plaintiff as research scientists, and had extensive knowledge of the DAC Technologies.
18. In addition to his dealings with the employees and former employees of the Plaintiff, and in breach of his contractual and fiduciary duties, during the period October, 2001 through March, 2003, the Defendant and/or Transcodia contacted a number of potential customers and investors of the Plaintiff for purposes competitive with the interests of the Plaintiff.

Trade Secrets

18. As Chief Scientist of the Plaintiff, the Defendant was instrumental in the development and documentation of the DAC Technologies and was intimately familiar with the confidential intellectual property and information of the Plaintiff.
19. The confidential intellectual property and information were and continue to be trade secrets of the Plaintiff and were communicated to the Defendant in confidence for the limited purpose of enabling the Defendant to further the Plaintiff's interests.
20. The Defendant received the confidential information or trade secrets knowing the limited purpose for which it was communicated to him and his contractual obligation under the terms of the Wang Contract to keep the information confidential.

21. The Defendant had and has a contractual obligation, and owes and owed a duty of trust and confidence, a fiduciary duty and a statutory duty to the Plaintiff in respect of the confidential information or trade secrets, and each part thereof, and was not and is not entitled to use the confidential information or trade secrets, or any part thereof, without the prior consent of the Plaintiff for any purpose other than that for which it was supplied to him by the Plaintiff.
22. Subsequently, in breach of such duties and obligations owed to the Plaintiff and without the Plaintiff's consent, the Defendant made use of the confidential information or trade secrets of the Plaintiff and has unlawfully made or seeks to make profits for himself.
23. The use by the Defendant and/or Transcodec or other corporate entities unknown to the Plaintiff, of confidential information or trade secrets that belonged to the Plaintiff constitutes an unlawful appropriation to the Defendant and/or Transcodec's, or other corporate entities' own use of the Plaintiff's property, and a wrongful conversion of the Plaintiff's assets.
24. The Defendant or corporate entities unknown to the Plaintiff, and each of them, threaten and intend to continue to use the confidential information or trade secrets to make profits for themselves.
25. By reason of the actions of the Defendants and each of them, the Plaintiff has suffered and continues to suffer loss and damage.

Copyright Infringement

26. The Plaintiff is the author of numerous software designs and related works comprising the DAC Technologies which have come into being since 1997 to date, and is the owner of the copyright therein.

27. The DAC Technologies and the copyright therein were authored exclusively by employees of the Plaintiff or contractors to the Plaintiff who have assigned and transferred to the Plaintiff all of their right, title and interest in and to the copyright in such works.
28. The Defendant infringed the Plaintiff's copyright in the work by developing, seeking to develop, marketing and purporting to own certain key elements of the DAC Technologies relating to the compression, storage, management and distribution of digital video images using a variable bit rate coding, in all cases without the consent of the Plaintiff.
29. By reason of the acts of the Defendant, the Plaintiff has suffered loss and damage.
30. The Defendant threatens and intends to continue and repeat the infringement of the Plaintiff's copyright.

Passing Off

31. The DAC Technologies consist of a unique and proprietary set of computer codes intended for use in the compression, storage, management and transmission of digital images. Included in the DAC Technologies are a suite of applications intended for use in the compression and transmission of digital video images, of particular utility for the delivery of video content over the internet (referred to as video on demand). A key unique feature of these technologies is the encoding of digital content using variable bit rates, as opposed to fixed bit rates.
32. Since 1997, the Plaintiff has adopted and used in connection with its technologies certain unique terms, including the terms "region based coding" and in later years the term "IPTV" to describe, respectively, the Plaintiff's encoding (compression) method and the Plaintiff's digital image delivery method.

33. The use by the Plaintiff of the terms "region based coding" and "IPTV" are unique to the DAC Technologies and are known to the public as being indicative of the Plaintiff's wares, services or business. In particular, the term IPTV was used extensively by the Plaintiff in its business dealings in Asia, and the Plaintiff's key prospective customers in Asia came to recognise the term IPTV as distinctive and as distinguishing the wares, services and business of the Plaintiff.
34. Commencing in the Fall of 2001 and continuing to the present, the Defendant has frequently and consistently communicated with parties in Asia (particularly in China) that the Defendant is the owner and distributor of video encoding and transmission technologies using region based coding. The Defendant has used the term IPTV in the course of his business discussions in China, as well as on his website.
35. By reason of the activity set out in the foregoing paragraph, the Defendant has passed off and continues to pass off its wares, services and business as and for those of the Plaintiff.
36. By reason of the activities of the Defendant, the Plaintiff has suffered damage as follows:
 - a. loss of profit resulting from the Plaintiff's loss of sales;
 - b. loss of goodwill and depreciation of the Plaintiff's goodwill and its trademark;
37. The Defendant has refused to discontinue the acts complained of and threatens and intends to continue those acts.
